

Slamming Doors

Kelly Clarkson

You closed the door right in my face
You chose to ignore my presence in this place
You thought I'd never make it without you
And now you're watching me from your living room
You left me on the outside lookin in
You saw me as a risk not worth takin
You slammed the door before you could realize
Behind this average girl there's a fire inside

Hear me, I bet you hear me now
See me, you're seein clearer now aren't you
Treat me, a little better now
Now that I'm here who's lookin down on who now

You led me to think I was a fool
The only words from you were 'stupid little girl'
You tried your best to kill my hopes and my dreams
Too bad you couldn't see the strength inside me
You pushed me and I pushed you out
Thinking you'd win
Feeding me lies about a world I'd never fit in
I know I'm better than that
I'm something worth remembering

Hear me, I bet you hear me now
See me, you're seein clearer now aren't you
Treat me, a little better now
Now that I'm here who's lookin down on who now

Hear me, creeping through your stereo
See me, not bad for a small town girl
You can't escape me, I'm all around
Everywhere you turn my voice, my face, my sound

Hear me, I bet you hear me now
See me, you're seein clearer now aren't you
Treat me, a little better now
Now that I'm here who's lookin...

Hear me
See me, you're seein clearer now
Treat me, a little a little better now
Now that I'm here who's lookin down on who now

Hear me, hear me
See me, see me
Treat me, you're treating me better now
Now that I'm here who's looking down on who now
