

What If

Kelly Khumalo

What if I were a liar
And I couldn't help myself
What if I forgot your birthday, and didn't care
What if I was suicidal and just left you behind

Would you still love me, if I forgot who I am?
Would you still love me?
Would you still love me?
Would you still love me?
Would you still love me?

What if a long strike gave me own anniversary
Could you still find it in your heart to care for me?
What if I turn to the part that set me free
Or gave it to her when she forced her self on me

Would you still love me?
Would you still love me?
Oh, could you still love me?
Could you still love me?

Don't think about, what if
Just know your love is enough for me
It will always be
Don't think about, what if
Just know your love is enough for me
It will always be, oh oh, oh oh oh
It will be
It will be

I know you'd still love me
You know I'd still love you
I know you'd still love me
I know you'd still love, me
