

How Much Do You Love Me

Kelsea Ballerini

You put on the boots I like for dinner on Friday night
You say they're uncomfortable
But you wear 'em anyway
You're texting Dad on the side
You're pourin' my favorite wine
You're leaning vulnerable
When you'd rather walk away

But when the rubber meets the road
And life goes how it goes
And we're not new no more
What am I in for?

If the meteor hit, babe, would you get
In your car and drive to me to cry with me?
If I went insane and didn't know my name
Would you stay beside of me, reminding me?
If I gambled away my money, would you back away?
If my jokes weren't funny, would you laugh?
How much do you love me? I gotta ask
How much do you love me?

You let me write on your skin, I know that it's permanent
But worst-case scenario, you could put something over it
If you ever got over it, could you ever get over it?
Tell me

If the meteor hit, babe, would you get (If the world was ending, where would you be?)
In your car and drive to me to cry with me? (If the world was ending, say it 's with me)
If I went insane and didn't know my name
Would you stay beside of me, reminding me?
If I gambled away my money, would you back away?
If my jokes weren't funny, would you laugh?
How much do you love me? I gotta ask
How much do you love me?

Mm, do I sound needy and dramatic?
Yeah, I know that it's love
But sue me for asking "How much?"

If the meteor hit, babe, would you get
In your car and drive to me to die with me?
Yeah
If I went insane, even if I didn't know my own name
Would you stay beside of me, reminding me?
If I gambled away my money, would you back away?
If my jokes weren't funny, would you laugh?
How much do you love me? I gotta ask
How much do you love me?

Mm, how much do you love me?
