

In Our Old Age

Kenny Rogers

Comin' home from work today I saw our future
And old man and his wife were holdin' hands
They were sittin' on a front porch swing
Like two young lovers
I waved to them as I went by then I realized
That life does not grow dimmer with the settin' of the sun
The best years of our lives still are yet to come.

In our old age love will just get better
The longer we're together, we'll grow stronger everyday
Our bodies may get weaker and our hair will turn gray
But love will never fade in our age (love will never fade).

One day the kids will all be grown and they'll be leavin'
And it will be like it was years ago
We'll be sittin' on the front porch swing like two young lo vers
'cos today I just saw what our future holds
