

Maybe You Should Know

Kenny Rogers

Seems to me that weâve been friends forever
We spend our time together as all good friends will do
But the silence only lies, if you could read my eyes
They hold another feeling I could show you.

Maybe you should know just how much I love you
In my life thereâs no one else above you
Maybe I should hope, you find out for yourself somehow
Or maybe I should tell you now.

Maybe I should wait and take my chances
A good dancer never dances, until he hears the cue
But the orchestra is gone, theyâve left us all alone
Thereâs no one here to tell me how to tell you:

Maybe you should know
Maybe I should tell you
Maybe I should tell you now.
