The girl licking her candy apple was alone, sitting up on the roof
Feeling tired already, she speaks, but still waits for the rain

My, what was that? Oh, it's a cat's cry - la, la-lin-do, la-lin-do
Say, take me along, wherever you go...

There, on God's back
Was a single apple tree
"Don't cry, girl, but sing again!"
Oh, where shall we go?

Yes, shaking and swaying, the cat straddled over mountains, hydrangea flower s

Yes, rain fell into the cat's pawprints, tears gathered up...

If they're the words of God

Maybe they'll moisten my parched throat

"Don't cry, girl, but sing again!"

Oh, where shall we go?

Oh, where shall we go?

Lan-ba-ba...
