We keep walking down an abandoned highway
All lined up in a row, laughing heartily

Taking the dog, cat, and rooster, we slipped away from town
Not knowing that the world was as vast as this

To the land from where that song we all sang came
That's where we'll go; raising our voices, we won't turn back

Come on, laugh, and take my hand
To brush aside our sadness
We won't get lost again
We promised, didn't we?
Mama, papa, mama
I want to meet you still
But, well, I'm going now

Going from empty town to town on our adventure
We talk about trivial things, huddling together to sing songs

Losing a place to go home to, after a while, we even grew used to sadness
But even so, our days still aren't over yet

We can't forget about that day, no matter when it is

We're going, I'm sure we'll go there; we won't cry anymore

Hey, right now, it feels like everything
Just looks so beautiful
I can't wait any longer
Toward where the light shines
Mama, papa, mama
We're all going together
So we're not lonely

We can hear it - singing, and someone's voice calling us
We're here - please, find us, hear our footsteps... footsteps... footsteps..

Come on, laugh, and take my hand
To brush aside our sadness
We won't get lost again
We promised, didn't we?
Mama, papa, mama
I want to meet you still
But, well, I'm going now

I want to meet you still
I'm always thinking of you
