

Nowhereland

Kerion

Sun shines everywhere
And fire is in the air
The ground is burning
This is where we are living, outside the border
We walk through this land
Sailing on a sea of sand
The wind is blowing
This is where we are dying, outside the border
Thrown out of the town
Everybody let us down
Children are crying
This is where they're growing up, outside the border

Thirst and misery
This is what we face daily
Anger is rising
This is why we are fighting, outside the border
Forced to beg and roam
This is why we are dancing, outside the border

Into the wild desert, we're moving day and night
Step by step we walk through the storm
Led by a thousand stars, we're following their light
One by one we fall on the ground
Will we succeed to find a better place ?

Vagrants of Nowhereland
Will you go home again ?