

Another Rolling Stone

Kevin Ayers

Ayers-Siau

Inside of us there's something screaming
Screaming that there's something wrong
You tell yourself that you're just dreaming
You simply have to carry on

There's no one to turn to
You're on your own
You're just another Rolling Stone
Your head full of rainbows, you ride the storm

And it's cold but you feel warm
You've been on the wild side
Since the day you were born
And you are not supposed to cry
Just keep on keeping on
Don't ask me why

For everyone there is a heartache
This no one can deny
Seems like this time it's never ending
I can't remember what it's like
To love and to hold you
All through the night

It feels so wrong but that's all right
Who can I complain to, we're all alone
Another Rolling Stone
Heart full of moonshine, you're Rolling home
And you're not supposed to cry
You just have to carry on
Don't ask me why

To love and to hold you
All through the night
So hold your baby tight
Love can just slip away into the night
And you're not supposed to cry
Just keep on keeping on
Don't ask me why
Another Rolling Stone
Heart full of moonshine
You're Rolling home
