

Just Because

Kevin Garrett

Still searching for your love
No matter how hard I try, it's never enough
Ooh girl, I'm still searching for your love
I'm still, still searching for it
Nobody needs to know if that's what you want
But I don't keep coming over just because, no
Still searching for it, still, still searching for it

Damn, the voices in my head saying I need it
Cause you playing games with everything and I can't beat it
Follow me to dance and acting like I won't see it, no
And you calling me every night but I know that you don't mean it

Holding back, my mind's on the moon
I'm not a fool, I know I'm gonna lose you
Quit the lies and tell me the truth
What do I gotta say?

Cause I'm still searching for your love
No matter how hard I try, it's never enough
Ooh girl, I'm still searching for your love
I'm still, still searching for it
Nobody needs to know if that's what you want
But I don't keep coming over just because, no
Still searching for it, still, still searching for it, searching

Why do you keep tryna make me feel so alone, girl?
I'm the one that has always been good on my own, girl yeah
And even when I am over it you can say the right words
But it's too hard to go on with how we never got it right, girl

Holding back, my mind's on the moon
I'm not a fool, I know I'm gonna lose you
Quit the lies and tell me the truth
What do I gotta say?

Cause I'm still searching for your love
No matter how hard I try, it's never enough
Ooh girl, I'm still searching for your love
I'm still, still searching for it
Nobody needs to know if that's what you want
But I don't keep coming over just because, no
Still searching for it, still, still searching for it, searching for
I'm still searching for your love
No matter how hard I try, it's never enough
Ooh girl, I'm still searching for your love
I'm still, still searching for it
Nobody needs to know if that's what you want
But I don't keep coming over just because, no
Still searching for it, still, still searching for it, searching for it