

Fly Again

Kevin Gates

Back against the wall, what do you hold onto? (Yung Lan on the track)
I know it's something that we all go through
Just aim for yours
When it rains, it pours
I'll learn how to fly again

Painful game, I made mistakes, but I ain't never tell on nobody
They called me names, I fell on my face, I started sellin' narcotics
Thrown in crosses, took some losses, never complained, I went got it
I thought I would be Muhammad Ali, but I didn't make it with boxing Defied the odds, went got me a job, but they wasn't paying me proper Rap game passed me lots of times, I never hate on nobody
I'm a gangster, my heart colder than Chicago
This black Impala just put bullets in my car door

Lord know my heart and I got so much l love to give
He who tries gotta die, put on murder gloves for him, yeah
Lord know my heart and I got so much l love to give
He who tries gotta die, put on murder gloves for him, yeah

Back against the wall, what do you hold onto?
I know it's something that we all go through
Just aim for yours
When it rains, it pours
I'll learn how to fly again

I was born a prince
The supreme council had advised against this
But I was in love, and I followed my heart

No getting used to living a human life (Uh-uh)
May sound stupid, I'm not human, but I'm human-like (Right)
My skin glow in the dark, it's only safe for me to move at night
Sometimes my eyes turn black while in the pale moonlight (I got you)
I'm your guardian angel (Who?), and it translates into Kevin (Kevin)
No love like mine, another lifetime, we used to be together (We used to be together)
It hurt my heart to see you hurt, in desperate need of affection
Gave up my wings and fell in love, was 'posed to be your protector
Love somebody else, you broke my heart and it's just not getting better
The angels telling me that God won't let me back into Heaven
Bae, I'm tired of playing games with you
I know inside, you feel the same way I do
We the reciprocal of one another, come from the same star
We got the same O's under our nose and we got the same scars

LA Fitness, wasn't surprised at all, we driving the same car
Same mall, shopping on impulse, I don't find it odd Breadwinner, moving them kilos 'round, I'ma supply the raw
Great pretenders, we on the Instagram actin' like we not involved

Back against the wall, what do you hold onto?
I know it's something that we all go through
Just aim for yours
When it rains, it pours
I'll learn how to fly again
I'll learn how to fly again

I'll learn how to fly again
I'll learn how to fly again
I'll learn how to fly again

Your majesty

The royal court's decision is respected and it's entirely part of Breadwinne r world court and executive style

But we both know our exercise of passionate speech by fluctuation of tone an d pitch

May have aroused unwanted recollections of negative occurrences

But no harm would've ever come to one possessing royal blood from dying on h and

For as we move in the signs of love, true peace, freedom, and justice

Only he that draws his sword shall be met with brute force

If you would've decreed that matter saying we were cleared for departure

I would've threw it all away and accepted whatever ridicule or consequence b ehind my actions

For I believe in our love

And one day maybe in this eternity or another

You'll see yourself for what I know you to be

A queen

If you ever need me for anything, this line never changes

Such is my love for you

For you are me, and I am you

I'm in love with you

The short moments we shared will forever be appreciated

I never withheld anything from you because my heart rests securely with you

I know you'd never do me a bitch ass thing

My heart will forever hurt to be in your arms

But at least we both know I'm willing to die for my beliefs

'Cause I've died for you before

And regret it not

For I did it all for the glory of love

In closing

I remain the same, I come as I leave

Upright, independent, and fearless

We just both good at pretending

I love you forever
