

Younger

Kevin McHale

I picked you up in my totalled Acura and took you out
I picked the cheapest place, wasn't a date as it turned out
I went to see Superbad but you needed my ID
We were young and dumb, we got kicked out and had to leave
I knew the way home, you took a cab, but
I found a way to do it all again, so
I called you up like "Bro, no homo, what you doin' now?"
But that was so long ago

We were once kids
We were once the whole wide world to one another
Don't know what we did
And now we wake up wondering how we lost each other
Back when we were younger
Back then when we were

All of the nights left sleepless, all of the times we'd hide
Poker in my gazebo, your first kiss with a guy
I found you
On that trip we took to Brazil in July
Hell broke loose
We had London, Paris, Monaco, Dubai
10 years of lives singing "God only knows"
Sunburnt and drunk in our white New Year's Eve clothes
We could have done white picket fences and could have been fine
But I needed time to slow

We were once kids
We were once the whole wide world to one another
Don't know what we did
And now we wake up wondering how we lost each other
Back when we were younger
Back then when we were younger
Back then when we were younger

Eu te amo demais
Tô morrendo de saudades
Mal espero pra te ver
Beijo, beijo
Boa noite

We were once kids
(We were once kids, we were once kids, we were once kids, yeah)
We were once the whole wide world to one another
Don't know what we did
And now we wake up wondering how we lost each other
Back when we were younger
Back then when we were younger

Tô morrendo de saudades de você
E eu te amo demais
Mal espero pra gente se ver
Boa noite