

Honest

Kevin Ross

Everybody wants to be real
But sometimes you could lose the ones you truly hold dear
Would you be so obsessed about being 100
If that meant that you would wind up being lonely
How would you feel?
Would you still be real?

We take the time to let love in
To then stand right in front of it
When were at war no one can win
But still your question is...

Would it kill you to be honest
Would it kill you to be honest with me
Girl I lie cause I love you
You lie cause you love me
If truth is the mirror
This shit could get ugly
And that's honest
If we're being honest

If I had a dresser full of numbers you would probably call em
To see what recklessness I got involved in Talking to yourself and trashing my apartment
To find the skeletons inside the closet
If I told you you're tripping would you trust me and drop it
Or would you pack up and leave me regardless
But ain't nobody perfect but you still decide to pick a target
Oh yeah

We take the time to let love in
To then stand right in front of it
When were at war no one can win
But still your question is...

Would it kill you to be honest
Would it kill you to be honest with me
Girl I lie cause I love you
You lie cause you love me
If truth is the mirror
This shit could get ugly
And that's honest
If we're being honest

Would it kill you to be honest
Would it kill you to be honest with me
Girl I lie cause I love you
You lie cause you love me
If truth is the mirror
This shit could get ugly
And that's honest
If we're being honest