New Normal

Khalid

You find your way but it's never enough
And though it's been tough for you
Losing touch, but ah
Summer has its end sometimes
And although I can't promise you much
You'll be fine
You'll be fine

So you make your bed up
Somewhere in the darkness
It's hitting you the hardest
Oh, no one predicted how far we came
It's not what you wanted

How fast the time goes
Living in the moment
Taking you for granted
It's a new normal
It's up to us to live in it
Not to understand it

You find your way but it's never enough
And though it's been tough for you
Losing touch, but ah
Summer has its end sometimes
Although I can't promise you much
You'll be fine
You'll be fine

You don't pick your pages
That's how the story goes
And this life is what you make it
It's out of your control
It's almost like you're screaming
But no one hears your voice
'Cause everything is changing

You find your way but it's never enough
'Cause everything is changing
And I can't stop a thing
You find your way but it's never enough
'Cause everything is changing

It's just a season
It's just a season
It's just a season
Just a (Take me back to the start)

It's just a season
It's just a season
It's just a season
Just a

Find your way, it's never enough
And though it's been tough for you
Losing touch, oh ah
Summer has its end sometimes

Sometimes
