

Goodbye My Love, Hello My Friend

Kill Your Idols

I'm sorry but I cant come out to play today. The sun is shining but I want it to go away. Life is waiting and I must answer the call, this time I'm not willing to take another fall. You touched me like no one ever has. But too bad now that is the past. I know that we were friends first, but emotions can't be put in reverse. Goodbye my love, Hello my friend this isn't a beginning but is it really the end? I wont forget all that we have been through. I just dont know if I love you or hate you. We had our highs, We had our lows. Only after that night, where it started at the show. Take my arm, hold on tight, that is when I thought everything would be right. Remember those songs? The ones on all those tapes? Now like the memories they're becoming erased. Removed your glasses, look in my eyes. You were all I loved, no you want to be despises. Goodbye my love, hello my friend this isn't a beginning but is it really the end? I wont forget all that we have been through, I just dont know I love you or hate you