Breathe Life

Killswitch Engage

And it begins anew The hatred of mankind As it seeks to kill that which lives inside

Now we are dying, Dying the slowest death Held down by bonds that bind us We breath our final breath

And it begins anew The burning we endure As we seek the strength, strength to break the bonds

Now we are dying, Dying the slowest death No more condemnation We fight for our last breath

Breathe life, for you are not alone Breathe life, inside your heart of stone

From dust you were born, And to the ashes you return

Break the bonds

Breathe life, for you are not alone Breathe life, inside your heart of stone