Hollow Convinctions

Killswitch Engage

Dislocation from the stark vision of the hollow
A vagrant love will lead me far beyond this sorrow
Is it betrayal or just the clarity of my trial
Replacing fear with a truth, a truth beyond denial

I've lost faith in these hollow convictions
I need something more
I need something more

I couldn't stop the pain from turning into resentment
I look beyond my shame to find redemption

I've lost faith in these hollow convictions
I need something more
I need something more
Can't live in the shadows of your hollow convictions
I need something more

A part of me died that day and I'll never be the same again

Can you set me free
Can you give me peace as I call to you in the darkness
I'm waiting for your voice to speak cause I need to believe
Waiting for your voice to speak to me
I'm calling out your name
I'm calling out your name
I'm calling out your name

I've lost faith in these hollow convictions
I need something more
I need something more
Can't live in the shadows of your hollow convictions
I need something more
I need something more
