

Everything to say and nothing left to do
I just wasted 6 months and a day, and all that's left is you
Things that aren't done, things that just become acceptable
Situations run, a lot of things have grown questionable
Looking at my hands, find the lines, I scan all of the things I planned
Pick and prove all you've got are girls, living in the world you choose
Said you'd play with me today inside your dream house
Wait for tomorrow, she'll be Barbie, I'll be kicked out

Cause she's better, she's better
She's better than me
So why do you keep
On playing me
You say that she's better, she's better
She's better than me
Then why do you keep me on my knees
And I'm begging, I'm begging

Just leave me
Just leave me
Just leave me, alone
Boy, you just keep on hanging on

You wanna know what lately I can't stand
"Girl, just do the best you can"
That phrase sucks
Either you're hot or your cold
Either you win or you won't
Addressing smoke and mirrors still I find you
Won't compete for two let me remind you
Let the spotlight find you
So there I sat the light was yellow
Wax in some wood filled bar
The drinks slid back
I wonder where you're at because I know your heart
You said you'd play with me
Inside your dream house
Wait for tomorrow, she'll be Barbie I'll be kicked out

Cause she's better, she's better
She's better than me
So why do you keep
On playing me
You say that she's better, she's better
She's better than me
Then why do you keep me on my knees
And I'm begging, I'm begging

Just leave me
Just leave me
Just leave me, alone
Boy, you just keep on hanging on