

Just To Have You

Kim Walker-Smith

If you ask me, I will let go of all I've built
Just to have You, just have to You
I'll go back to the start, surrender my guards
Just to have You

It's always been You, Jesus
More than enough for me
You're still my everything
It's always been You, Jesus
You're more than enough for me
You're still my everything

If it means letting go, of the things that I hold
Just to have You, just to have You
Then I will turn aside, leave my comfort behind
Just to have You

It's always been You, Jesus
More than enough for me
You're still my everything
It's always been You, Jesus
More than enough for me
You're still my everything

Oh-oh
Oh, You are, You are my everything, yeah
Ooh, ooh-ooh, ooh, ooh-ooh, yeah

You're still the air I breathe, the friend I need
You're still the fire in my eyes, the center of my life
You're still the air I breathe, the friend I need
You're still the fire in my eyes, the center of my life
You're still the air I breathe, the friend I need
You're still the fire in my eyes, the center of my life
You're still the air I breathe, the friend I need
You're still the fire in my eyes, the center of my life

It's always been You, Jesus
More than enough for me
You're still my everything
It's always been You, Jesus
More than enough for me
You're still my everything

Oh-oh, my everything
Oh-oh-oh-oh, my everything
You're still my everything