

Christmas Without You

Kimberley Locke

Christmas day has finally arrived
All the children are jolly and the snow is so white
With all the love I feel by my side
There's still that void telling me who it's not by

I'm still setting up your plate like you're passing by
I'm still gonna fix up your favorite pecan pie
I'm gonna make it through
This Christmas without you

Your presence always filled up the room
Your voice was enough to change a mood
What would Christmas be if we spent it in blue
We're gonna celebrate the way that you'd want us to

We're gonna sing carols that you'd like to sing
We're gonna build a snowman and do some sledding
We're gonna make it through, oh
This Christmas without you

My heart is hurting today
Like it does every holiday
I feel you [?]
Again and again and again, no

But since you can't be around
I find ways to surround myself
With remnants of you

I'm gonna celebrate everything that you were
I'm gonna do this holiday without you
We're gonna make it through, yeah
This Christmas without you
We're gonna make it through, yeah
This Christmas without you
