

The Bump Bump Song

Kimberley Locke

Here comes an elephant down the street
He's the nicest elephant you'll ever meet
When you sleep he does a dance
Thinks he's dancing in France
He's silly and fun and laughs from his belly
No one quite notices he's actually quite smelly

Here comes a tiny mouse trying to get some cheese
She's the nicest tiny mouse you've ever seen
When you sleep, she does a dance
Thinks she's dancing in France
She's silly and fun and laughs with her whiskers
No one quite notices she's actually quite frisky

One day they both meet on the same French street
Each scares each other with their dancing feet
Till they both realized they put you to sleep
Till they both realize you've fallen asleep