

Never Run

King Dude

I keep looking for a different girl
One that can ruin my entire world
And if I find her I won't stand a chance
I'd fall in love with her at the first glance

Because she still makes sense to me
That old broken symphony
She was a scattered family
Singing a five part harmony
It was a haunting melody
In my distant memory
Because what you cannot see will never come
Even if Christ starts speaking with my tongue

She would never run
She would never run

I keep looking for a better world
One that's not blue and green like this old girl
And if I find her I won't hesitate
I'd take her hand on the very first date

Because there's no time to wake the dead
She got a living ghost inside her head
Although her face might look like porcelain
Her soul is cold, she's got that heart of sin
And now the Devil is moving in
And Jesus ain't her only friend
Because once you start to look they always come
Lord Lucifer is filling up my lungs

And she would never run
She would never run
She would never run
Lord, she would never run

I can see you want a hand in it
But I don't think you understanding this at all
'Cause if you really took a stand against
What you call the establishment, you'd fall

'Cause if you really wanna change this old broke world
You find yourself a very lovely girl
And hold her hand much tighter than your gun
And she'll walk with you into the setting sun

She would never run
She would never run
She'd never run
She would never run
She'd never run
Lord, she would never run
She would never run
Lord, she would never run
