

Remember Me

King Iso

Remember me, I'm the nigga you killed
I was the one dealing with shit you had feeled
I was the one willing to give you a shield
And ride shotgun gripping on a pistol for real
From the beginning considered as a kid who was ill
Saw you in the mirror, the image is vivid I feel
My mind's spinning like a pinwheel, consider it still
Then back then you really even were pinning the wheel
As a little one moving city to city would kill
Any dream, plenty things that a kid wanna steal
Had a couple of siblings but the middle one feel neglected
I bet that all of your feelings concealed
Hella depression and trust schizophrenia's real
Started witnessing murder homie and it was a deal
Couldn't take it anymore, told you nigga to chill
But you were gripping the steel like fuck it give me some pills
Gave up on us homie, you ended it still
As I reminisce about it dawg, it's giving me chills
I watched you cough up a whole blood river for real
And said fuck all the shit that we built, real nigga revealed
As I hover over you in the bathroom like you had to
This isn't real, I sent a message to God hoping he willing to still Give my old self a chance, what I'm feeling is ill
Ay, remember me still?

I know that you living your life
Searching for a reason to survive
Remember, remember me
Remember how we could be
I know it's not easy, could you try
Could you try to find your light
Let me give you this advice
Remember me tonight

Yeah, motherfucker I remember you
You told me that you hated me for stuff that I did to you
Sucker want to punish me enough for what I didn't do
That's why I wanna grab a gun and bust a shot up into you
I was in a mental ward and stuck inside a pickle suit
Everyday bologna sandwich coming out in different food
And if I can't control what happens jumping out my physical
Then honestly I couldn't give a fuck about an interview
Gin and juice, 'bout to take a double shot of Henny too
Pop a pill, intensifying, that's what all the liquor do
Anywho, why would anybody wanna pity you?
Anything that people did to me them niggas did to you
Introverted, sitting in the living room in the nude
You ain't put nothing on, lights nor tennis shoes
There could be an earthquake, whether it gon' mend it to
And everybody wildin', I could guarantee you didn't move
Death couldn't stiffen you, yes we got different views
True colors, true brother, have better pick of you
I was holding on but you left me with shit to do
That you were supposed to and yes I was pissed at you
Daddy came back right, blessed like a fricken fool
Life comin', goin' like death playing peek-a-boo
All in balance like we're testing some chemicals

Since 26 I feel like I'll be dead before I'm 52
Guess that I'm the nigga all the children wanna listen to
I be thinking 'bout 'em everytime a nigga hit the booth
This is dedicated to the ones that ain't got shit to lose
Gotta learn to separate your mind and feelings into two
Look into the mirror, say you're sorry for the shit you do
Learn how to love yourself for real whatever's killing you
'Cause I was once there, about to die but I forgive me too
'Cause in the end your biggest and worst enemy my nigga's you

I know that you living your life
Searching for a reason to survive
Remember, remember me
Remember how we could be
I know it's not easy, could you try
Could you try to find your light
Let me give you this advice
Remember me tonight
