King Missile

I want to go to a place where nobody knows who I am
And come back to a place where everyone forgot who I was
I want to bury myself and rise from the grave
And shower and shave and start over again

I want to be somebody else again
So I want to go away and come back and start all over again

I want to be somebody else again
I want to be somebody else again
I want to be somebody else again
