

Drenched

Kingcrow

Stay with me, let's play a game
Forget what you think you have done before
Follow me, embrace the rain
And feel the drops falling on you, weightless

Long awaited answers
From a sky that tells no lies
To someone who's lost in nowhere
For someone facing his past

Now it makes its way, a different seed
From the branches of the same old tree
It's calling you
Yes, it's calling you

While you run barefoot drenched to the skin
You're exactly where you need to be
It's calling you
Yes, it's calling you
Today

Long awaited answers
From a sky that tells no lies
To someone who's lost in nowhere
For someone facing his past