

Enlightened to Extinction

Kingdom of Sorrow

Those dead eyes see no empathy they fail to feel unable to believe with nothing behind the gaze glaring out
Black roses wither for all who've been chosen
Reach inside the scar caress a weathered heart
Awoken by the blade the kiss of stainless steel
I had already buried you there is nothing left to mourn
I had already buried you I only kept the memories I loved
There is nothing else left to mourn you have been enlightened to extinction

That dead touch can't feel what I've held unable to grasp just how I've dealt
In the darkest corner of your plight barely alive enough to reach towards the light
There is nothing left to mourn you've been enlightened to extinction
There's no last look in the past you've been enlightened to extinction
Reach inside the scar caress a weathered heart
Awoken by the blade the mourning begins
Reach inside the scar caress a weathered heart
Awoken by the blade the kiss of stainless steel