

Tough Enough

Kip Moore

You say there ain't nobody here in this town
Who can take the fire you give out
But, little darling, I'm telling you now
I ain't scared and I ain't gonna back down

You had a lot of boys, couldn't hang on
In the beginning, they said they were strong
But you got rocky, and before too long
Just like you called it, they were up and gone

Well, give me all you got, yeah
Reach back, take your best shot

Baby, I'm tough enough
Baby, I'm rough enough
To fight for your love
To handle your love
Baby, I'm man enough
And I got all the right stuff
And I'm gonna call your bluff
And give you all my love

Show me your scars, tell me your heartache
Share all your secrets, all your past mistakes
And I know your love is a long hard way, but I promise you I'll do whatever it takes

Just hold on to my hand, yeah
And let me prove I am

Baby, I'm tough enough
Baby, I'm rough enough
To fight for your love
To handle your love
Baby, I'm man enough
And I got all the right stuff
And I'm gonna call your bluff
And give you all my love

There ain't nothing you can tell me
Nothing you can do to scare me, honey
I've already made up my mind
I'll climb over every wall for you
I'll cut up, beat up, fall for you
And I won't stop until you're all mine

Baby, I'm tough enough
Baby, I'm rough enough
To fight for your love
To handle your love
Baby, I'm man enough
And I got all the right stuff
And I'm gonna call your bluff
And give you all my love
Ooh yeah
Oh

And, baby, I'm man enough
And I got all the right stuff
And I'm gonna call your bluff