

Where You Are Tonight

Kip Moore

Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night, thinking, drinking, and smoking and hoping that its' me that's foliating through your mind, floating through your mind

Then I get that feeling, trying to stop my hands from shaking, Starring at the ceiling, and keeling, and making deals with the man above yeah, with the man above

Oh, I, I, I'm wondering where you are tonight

I wring the sheets out when I'm sweating, soaking wet, pacing, chasing the visions And wishing that I could kiss, instead of missing you,

Oh, I, I, I'm wondering where you are tonight

Can't catch my breath, kinda feels like I'm suffocating, my minds a wreck
At best, I think ym heart is reaching down on me, breaking down on me

Oh, I, I I'm wondering where you are tonight
I, I, tell me will we ever get it right
I, I, I'm wondering where you are tonight

Can you feel me when I reach for you Hear me when I say Your name
See me walking through your door
Or are we just too far away
Too Far away

Tell me when I'm out of sight, am I out of mind, do you count the seconds and minutes, just wanna speed up time Girl, are you missing me all the ways I'm missing you, could you tell me how the hell I'm suppose to make it through?

Oh, I, I I'm wondering where you are tonight
I, I, tell me will we ever get it right
I, I, I'm wondering where you are tonight

Wondering where you are tonight
Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night, thinking, drinking and smoking
And Hoping
I wring the sheets out when I'm sweating, soaking wet, pacing, chasing the visions and wishing Can't catch my breath, kinda feels like I'm suffocating, my mind's a wreck
At best, I think my heart is breaking down on me d-d-down on me wondering where you are tonight [vocal fade out repeat]