

Reason To Believe

Kip Winger

Somewhere between your loss and hope it's calling you on
A sound so deep a voice you know it can't be wrong
Sometimes the spirit won't let you go
Maybe you already know

I've found a reason to believe
Another chance to make a change
When I turned that corner in myself
And crossed that bridge across the pain
I found my reason to believe
It's like a flower growing in me
And if you're open to receive it
You'll find a reason to believe

Life's always changing
Rearranging

Does it seem you've lost the time to follow your heart
No will to notice the things around you pull you apart
Sometimes the spirit won't let you go
Maybe you already know

I've found a reason to believe
Another chance to make a change
When I turned that corner in myself
And crossed that bridge beyond the pain
I found my reason to believe
It's like a flower growing in me
And if you're open to receive it
You'll find a reason wait and see
It's burning up inside of me
A flame as far as you can see
Like a light into forever
Living a dream that set me free
I found my reason to believe
With every whisper there's a key
And if you're open to receive it
You'll find a reason
A reason to believe

Life's always changing
Rearranging
One day fading
One day waiting