

Tomorrow Never Comes

Kirsty MacColl

I watch you lie asleep
Watch you breathing
And as you fall and rise
Like the tears in my eyes
I know you'll be leaving

I've earned all the pain
I suppose it was worth it
I'd do it again but I just couldn't face it
And if I see you again
You won't be the person I knew
I look to the future and see
A thousand setting suns
But tomorrow never comes

I still watch from my window
To see if you're coming
But I know in my heart
There's really no chance
You'll never stop running
It's like waiting for Xmas again
It's all lost in the blink of an eye

And about all the pain
Well you know it was worth it
You could do it again but I just don't deserve it
Let us part in the rain so the clouds hide
The despair and the sorrow I feel on the inside
And let my tears dry
In the light of a setting sun
And tomorrow never comes
