

Memphis

Kitten

Plane by 5 A.M
Hurry up, out a dirty hotel down in Memphis
You're a bedroom guy, I'm a bedroom girl
But you know it don't mean the same thing
Demolition guy, shout out loud
You know, you are depressing
Does your mother care? Does she still pray?
By this time next, you'll be married
And you'll quit your job, and I bet you will Bet you'll never come back to Memphis
(I bet you won't)

What's that stereo?
Ooh la la, bet you didn't have one in Memphis
Where's your heart? Play your favorite record
And maybe we can relate more
I'm an Avril kid, yes, I said it
I've loved her, I am a human
Feel sixty-four, feel thirty-four
I'm twenty-four, it's just a road while
And it's so serene, they come relaxing
And I'm feeling all so important
Let's take a trip, give me a kiss
Don't wanna sit on this

And you'll never come back to Memphis

Ringtone, echoes delay
Missing you isn't something that I am used to Did you expect that? Cannot expect
The way that I feel about you
Let's run away, let's get away
We can choose a house on the hillside

With a wooden fence, I can stay at home
Wear my hair up nice, with the children
I'll be a loving mom, won't judge at all
And we'll never go back to Memphis
And when you cry, just remember that

We're in deep, clouds are piercing through
You know that you can always cry on my shoulder
The skyscrapers feel like sandpaper
I know how words can hurt you
You're a warrior, my warrior
You know I'll be the armor
A tender heart when we connect
And you let go, you are perfect
Don't be afraid, don't be afraid
We'll never go back to Memphis
And I'll never go back to Memphis
