

Science And Regret

Kitten

What they say is true,
There's a reason for us to go back there,
Close your eyes,
Remember where you are and where you've been.

We cut the night in two,
Could have been like Sunday morning,
But nothing ever works the way you want it to.

Never liked your face,
Never liked the way you followed,
Everybody in the crowd,
And parked the car,
Now you're gonna say what you can do when you're 15,
Remember what this looks like,
When you're 33.

There's nothing I can offer you but science and regret,
Is that alright?
Just take the drugs they offer you,
They'll help you to forget,
And that's alright.
And that's alright.

A black dog sits and waits,
You're lucky if you make it out the door into the street,
Now you're gonna see what you can do when you're 15,
Remember what this looks like when you're 33,
There's nothing I can offer you but science and regret,
Is that alright?
Just take the drugs they offer you,
They'll help you to forget,
And that's alright.

There's nothing I can offer you but science and regret,
Is that alright?
Just take the drugs they offer you,
They'll help you to forget,
And that's alright.
And that's alright.
And that's alright.
