

Never Come Home

Kittie

Unsheltered
Dragging endless burden
This freedom clings to me
Like shackles oh no
In your eyes I'm found
But I can never come home
This tired Search is never ending
Defeated, I lay down with
Ashes and dust
In your eyes I'm found
But I can never come home
And I still wander
Aimless and blind
I'm lost without refuge
I'm found in your eyes (I cling to your lies)
The people who smile to your face,
Will not remain, in the end
I wish they could hear the things you had said,
When you told me you hated this town
Trophies will tarnish
And I mourn what I cannot save
The home within you, reduced to ash,
In its place a barren grave.
In your eyes I'm found
But I can never come home
As the years go by
I wish I could turn back time