

Everything

KJ-52

You got, everything I need, you got, everything
Nothing's too hard for you, everything I need
You got, everything

I was, sitting in the sun, I'm crying in the rain
Like every single day, I'm waking up and it just felt the same
Hate what I've become, I'm on the run, you hear the pain
Nothing changed, praying now to God that I can find my way
I told you I was done, but now I know for certain
My face is speaking volumes, I just never said a word
When I laugh and say I'm fine, that's when I'm really hurting
All this trouble all up on my mind, they know I'm really burning
And when they ask me how I'm doing lately
I just try to smile, and I can act like it can never phase me
Try to convince myself that this thing could never change me
Inside my mind, well it's like I'm going crazy
Some days it's just a one, these other days a ten, all these Voices calling from deep down inside my head
Got me tossing and I'm turning just upon my bed
And when it couldn't get any worse, that's when I said this

You got, yes Lord
You got, everything I need, you got
Everything
Nothing's too hard for you, everything I need
You got, everything

So, in a world full of deep fakes and decoys
My God gave me three joys, just in the form of three boys
And my couch and in my house is like a sweet noise
Sound like fortnite, xbox and three toys
Waking up just to my cup just filled with sweet blessing
That's enough to make me realize, it's when I keep stressing
Plus I keep guessing, I need to keep resting
Ain't nothing too hard for you man, that's a deep lesson
But I need correction man, I never see perfection
I just keep confessing all my sin just when I'm a deep lesson
And he said to me, He wants to keep testing
I'ma keep pressing till I see your face in each session
Then you told me while I walk away, it's okay not to be okay
Dry your eyes, wipe your tears away
That's why I lift my hand, I gotta say this, you got

You got, yes Lord
You got, everything I need, you got
Everything
Nothing's too hard for you, everything I need
You got, everything
