

Affection

Kllo

I still need your
I still need your affection
I still need your
I still need your affection
I still need your
I still need your affection
I still need your
I still need your affection

We can't deny the truth
Breaking from the pressure
Been under the roof
Excuses are gentle lies
We can keep our distance
But we won't know the difference until we try

I still need your
I still need your affection
I still need your
I still need your affection

This time you're the boss
Try stay open minded
Stop turning the clock
Let's face it
You are everything I'm not
Swore we were indifferent
In the afterthought
I still feel that I

I still need your
I still need your affection
I still need your
I still need your affection
...