

Yonder

Klone

We have to leave, just you and I
In this great blue yonder, unreal and wild
Live this sweet inception until we die
Leading us together on the other side
It's another chapter, a tale to write
To sate our craving when the moon is tired
We're floating outside our body shell
Entirely detached from our shade

Spread the light when the sky is grey
Let things rise and grow, to carry on the flame
Reach the lines to enlighten fate

Free from humankind, now we're gone away

You've never been so far from me
I've never felt so close to you
Something wide open shall set us free
Livin' the moment, nothing else to do

Spread the light when the sky is grey
Let things rise and grow, to carry on the flame
Reach the lines to enlighten fate
Free from humankind, now we're gone away