Permanent

Knocked Loose

Suffering in this life without you
Permanent blue
Parted by death, reunited the same
Permanent blue

The final thread in the loom
If not to love then to show
A mountain that towers over creation
Without a sun there is no room to grow

Unfulfilled

In the presence of your figure
Your voice still echoes from from far away
The wind blows a familiar thrum
Faced with one last choice to make

Shepherd me
Through walls of stone
The wooded valley that you call home

Shepherd me
Teach me the blade
The only way our love is saved

Can't last another day without you
Exercising every measure left
A spot for two in the womb of hell
An apology, my final breath

Suffering in this life without you
Permanent blue
Parted by death, reunited the same
Permanent blue

Closure in a physical form
Reject the hand of the devout
When I saw the ghost was you
All the lights went out

Permanent blue...
