

Time Machine

Knox

I would have never walked into that house
If I had known that I would feel like how I feel right now
I would have never asked you for your number
If I had known that you would break my heart just like the other
Guys that you put through this
Flashback to the night that you said we were different

So save all that sorry shit
'Cause I know you didn't mean it
No, I know you didn't mean it so

I wish I had a time machine
So I could go back to the night
To the first time you locked eyes with me
Only now I'd turn around
I would set my drink down
I would leave the party
I would wake up by myself
'Cause then I would have never felt
The way I did when you lied to me
But I don't have a time machine

I would have never let you meet my mom
She always thought there was something just a little off
I was blind I told her she was wrong
I must have lied to myself all along
'Cause all her intuition was right
You told me that your phone died
Then you walked in in a hoodie but that hoodie wasn't mine

So save all that sorry shit
No I don't need no explanation
Yeah, I mean it when I say it that

I wish I had a time machine
So I could go back to the night
To the first time you locked eyes with me
Only now I'd turn around
I would set my drink down
I would leave the party
I would wake up by myself
'Cause then I would have never felt
The way I did when you lied to me
But I don't have a time machine

No, I don't have a time machine

I wish I had a time machine
So I could go back to the night
To the first time you locked eyes with me
Only now I'd turn around
I would set my drink down
I would leave the party
I would wake up by myself
'Cause then I would have never felt
The way I did when you lied to me
But I don't have a time machine
