

Still All I See Is You

Koe Wetzel

I didn't believe all the rumors
It didn't sound like you to me
Leaving your home
Everything that you know
Just packing your things and leaving

I had to see it for myself
It'd kill me to find
An empty house, and nobody around
And a real estate sign

But it wasn't that you had to leave
The weight that's hanging on my sleeve
Is why I feel the way I do
But I've seen pain and a broken heart
From the bottom of his mason jar
Still all I see is you

So how's Oklahoma
I wouldn't know cause you haven't called
You talk to your friends
And I hear from them
Wasn't that I've fallen

It makes me wonder if you're comin'
And oh for then if you ever will
Do you have a man?
Does he hold your hand?
Did you tell him how I feel?

Cause wasn't that you had to leave
Ain't weight that's hanging on my sleeve
Is why I feel the way I do
But I've seen pain and a broken heart
From the bottom of his mason jar
Still all I see is you

And it wasn't that you had to leave
Ain't weight that's hanging on my sleeve
Is why I feel the way I do
But I've seen pain and a broken heart
From the bottom of his mason jar
Still all I see is you

Still all I see is you
