

Super Human

Kojey Radical

I've showed you my darkness Fed you my flesh
You made anthems of my tears
I'm no super human
I can't save you and save my self I'm no super human
Super

I built my ideals on standards I learned as an infant and then imagined my own, like most curious teenagers no?

I watched my peers walk a path far different to mine and grew more confident with my own solitude

Politics, love, manhood and sexuality I discovered like a blind lamb in the hands of a unfamiliar shepherd

With coloured pigmentation you must accept that your historical ly pivotal leaders will more than likely be killed

With darker pigmentation you become an example of exoticism under a western microscope

Elements of your identity appropriated and sold back to you with less than clever tag lines

And through it all you must smile

And continue to dance

Yeah keep dancing

Knowing the revenge will taste so much sweeter once you've made it
