

I Think You're Beautiful

Kolohe Kai

This world can be so cruel
Chew you up, spit you out and then you're drool
It's not cool, it's not cool to make a girl like
You feel like a fool
But what do you do when the whole world's laughing at you
You feel undeserving, you feel unworthy
I know you're hurting, so just come with me
Into tomorrow, come baby follow me to see what you're really worth, yeah

You think you're crazy, but I think you're amazing
You think you're nothing, but I know you need one thing
Someone to say you're beautiful
Tell you the things that you should know
You should know, I think you're beautiful

I think you're beautiful

I see you drowning in those thoughts of yours, (I've been there)
Feeling like the dark amongst the stars
Putting all that makeup on just to hide all of your scars
But your smile it mirrors your broken heart (your broken heart)
You feel undeserving, you feel unworthy
I know you're hurting, so just come with me
Into tomorrow, come baby follow me to see
What you're really worth, you're worth a lot to me

You think you're crazy, but I think you're amazing
You think you're nothing, but I know you need one thing
Someone to say you're beautiful
Tell you the things that you should know
You should know, I think you're beautiful

I think you're beautiful

You should know, I think you're beautiful

You feel undeserving, you feel unworthy
I know you're hurting, so just come with me
Into tomorrow, come baby follow me to see what you're really worth
You're worth a lot to me

You think you're crazy, but I think you're amazing
You think you're nothing, but I know you need one thing
Someone to say you're beautiful
Tell you the things that you should know
You should know, I think you're beautiful

(You're beautiful)
(You're beautiful)
(You're beautiful)
I think you're beautiful

(You're beautiful)
(You're beautiful)
(You're beautiful)
I think you're beautiful
