

Stuck In Time

Kongos

I want to fall in love again
I want to pay the rent
I want someone who doesn't pretend
Hell or heaven sent
Otherworldly possessions
That look good in the light
Some kind of discount
Well that would be rather nice

Isn't that just how it goes
Always in between
Between something new and something old
Even a new belief
Every time you turn around
Your world has changed
Somehow you still think
You haven't gone fucking insane

We're stuck in time for now
Mercilessly passing
Nervously keep laughing
And hope it goes away

I find myself here now
The time keeps on just passing
Maybe we'll keep laughing
Until we find something to say

I'm waiting to make my predictions
And changing them when I'm wrong
Keep rewriting the history
Redecorate before nuclear war
We're living in the material world
And organizing till we die
This goes here and that goes there
This should make you laugh and
That should make you cry

We're stuck in time for now
Mercilessly passing
Nervously keep laughing
And hope it goes away

I find myself here now
The time keeps on just passing
Maybe we'll keep laughing
Until we find something to say

We're stuck in time for now
Mercilessly passing
Nervously keep laughing
And hope it goes away

I find myself here now
The time keeps on just passing
Maybe we'll keep laughing
Until we find something to say