

Lesson Number 3

The Kooks

Broken promises you made
And I can't, for fear, look at your face
Lesson Number 3 learnt now I've paid
The world is at war with the human race

For all the times I never, never turned away
And now she's here on someone else's arm
For all the times I never, never turned her way
And now she's here on someone else's arm

Broken promises I made
And you can't, for fear, look at my face
Lesson Number 3 learnt now we've paid
The world is at war with the human race

For all the times I never, never turned away
And now she's here on someone else's arm
For all the times I never, never turned her way
And now she's here on someone else's arm

For all the times I never, never turned away
And now she's here on someone else's arm
For all the times I never, never turned her way
And now she's here on someone else's arm