

Enough

Koryn Hawthorne

You're making me a fighter, a fighter
You're taking me higher, higher
You're giving me the strength I need to believe
Life is worth living 'cause You love me

So many people up ahead of me
Feels like I'll never see the finish line
I hear the voices of the enemy
Telling me I'll never see the other side

But it's not what they say
It's not what I think
That defines who I am
I need Your voice
I need Your words
To remind me again

You're making me a fighter, a fighter
You're taking me higher, higher
You're giving me the strength I need to believe
Life is worth living 'cause You love me
And that's enough, that's enough
That's enough You love me
You're enough, You're enough
You're enough, enough for me

If you take away my abilities
I still know who I'm meant to be
I can overcome anything
'Cause Your Spirit is alive in me

Only Your voice
Only Your words
Can define who I am
I need Your voice
I need Your words
To remind me again

You're making me a fighter, a fighter
You're taking me higher, higher
You're giving me the strength I need to believe
Life is worth living 'cause You love me
And that's enough, that's enough
That's enough You love me
You're enough, You're enough
You're enough, enough for me

I am chosen and redeemed
Your love has set me free
You define my identity, oh
I am seen and I am known
You call me as Your own
You define my identity, yeah

You're making me a fighter, a fighter
You're taking me higher, higher
You're giving me the strength I need to believe

Life is worth living 'cause You love me
And that's enough, that's enough
That's enough You love me
You're enough, You're enough
You're enough, enough for me
And that's enough, that's enough
That's enough You love me
You're enough, You're enough
You're enough, enough for me