

Day Glow

KOTA The Friend

Are you on the way home?
I be in the backyard
Baskin' in the dayglow
Starin' at the stars (Statik Selektah)
Takin' in the sun rain
Open up the front door
Open up the windows
And let it all in
Uh

I'm on a road trip, passin' by twenty miles of ocean
Reminisclin' of when I was stuck on my mama's sofa
Cabin in the Catskills, please do not approach us
Kept the past here while I'm sippin' on mimosas
Watchin' the coyotes as I'm sparkin' up the flame
In a little town where nobody know my name
Think I'm turnin' up, really, it's more of all the same
'Til that shit get too redundant and I gotta get away
Got a lot of people secrets that I'm takin' to my grave
It's a credit to my memory slowly starting to fade
Every day I'm steadily strivin' to be a better me
Gotta get up and get to the promises that I made
To myself, better health, adding zeros to my wealth
Bigger crib with some space for my kid to run and play
When you ask me how I'm doin' and I say I'm doin' great
I'm just sayin' that I'm steady pushing forward every day, like

Are you on the way home?
I be in the backyard
Baskin' in the dayglow
Starin' at the stars
Takin' in the sun rain
Open up the front door
Open up the windows
And let it all in

I just want a house in my city with like a ton of grass
Kickin' soccer balls with my kiddies whenever summer's back
You don't ever see me like fifties, they throwin' shade and they miss me
I'm never racin' shit, I'm savin' my stimmy
I got a lot to lose but I don't got a lot to prove Misery and debt is a decision and you got to choose
I'm simply washing my dishes and takin' in the view
I got this woman and she somethin' to see
She make me feel like I'm the guy I always wanted to be
I put my ego on the shelf so she can love me for free
My son is gettin' older, attitude, he's suckin' his teeth
Until I come around, I'm finna turn this prince to a king
And every day is Saturday, we ain't stayin' mad today
Don't sit at my table if you hatin', we congratulate
And be authentic, 'cause this is not a masquerade
Over here, the sun is shining crazy on a average day

Are you on the way home?
I be in the backyard
Baskin' in the dayglow
Starin' at the stars

Takin' in the sun rain
Open up the front door
Open up the windows
And let it all in

Let it all in
Let it all in
Let it all in
Let it all in

Let it all in
