

Silence

Koven.

Your love, I say to you, it's all just in your head
As my life is nothing more but pieces in your hand
Don't let me down, don't let the hope I hold to slowly slip away
'Cause I need comfort in your actions
Now your words have gone astray

I, I watch your lips with every cut
Couldn't hear a single thing over your silence, your silence
I, I could tell you everything to say
I correct your words and hear your heart
But your silence, your silence says it all

Your silence says it all
Your silence says it all

I, I watch your lips with every cut
Couldn't hear a single thing over your silence, your silence
I could tell you everything to say
I correct your words and hear your heart
But your silence, your silence says it all

Your love, I say to you, it's all just in your head
As my life is nothing more but pieces in your hand
Don't let me down, don't let the hope I hold to slowly slip away
'Cause I need comfort in your actions
Now your words have gone astray

I, I watch your lips with every cut
Couldn't hear a single thing over your silence, your silence
I, I could tell you everything to say
I correct your words and hear your heart
But your silence, your silence says it all

Your silence says it all
Your silence says it all

I, I watch your lips with every cut
Couldn't hear a single thing over your silence, your silence
I could tell you everything to say
I correct your words and hear your heart
But your silence, your silence says it all