Roads

KREAM

Give me just a second to collect my thoughts
I just can't admit it but I'm all yours
I'm guarding the middle between right and wrong
But just like a puppet, you string me along

All of these visions of you replaying in my mind, my mind
I shouldn't pick up all your calls but I want you tonight, oh-oh-oh-oh

All the roads, they lead me right back right to you again
Oh, you again
I try forget you but you're still right there in my head
Oh, in my head
I don't want you, but I need you, on the dark side of the morning
I don't want you, but I need you
'Cause all the roads, they lead me right back right to you again
Oh, you again

Why do I question late-night mistakes
When it's so damn easy to just walk away?
Something about you that I can't escape
My heart's in pieces when you say my name

All of these visions of you replaying in my mind, my mind
I shouldn't pick up all your calls but I want you tonight, oh-oh-oh-oh

All the roads, they lead me right back right to you again
Oh, you again
I try forget you but you're still right there in my head
Oh, in my head
I don't want you, but I need you, on the dark side of the morning
I don't want you, but I need you
'Cause all the roads, they lead me right back right to you again
Oh, you again

All the roads
They lead me back to ya
All the roads
They lead me back to ya
All the roads
They lead me back to ya
All the roads

All the roads, they lead me right back right to you again
Oh, you again
I try forget you but you're still right there in my head
Oh, in my head
All the roads

They lead me back to ya
They lead me back to ya
