

Love Will Find You

Kris Allen

It's not a puzzle you can solve
Not a code that you can crack
Not a twelve-step plan to help you understand
It's a mystery; that's a fact
And you don't get to choose
Right place or the right time
So listen up real close, cause all you need to know
Is let go and hold on tight

You're not gonna see it coming
Shows up like a thief at night
You're not gonna feel like running
But that's how you know it's right
You can't go looking for love
Cause love will find you, ooh
You can't go looking for love
Cause love will find you, yeah

You might meet him on the sidewalk
Might see her in the checkout line
A friend of a friend might introduce you
Next thing you know, you're eating sushi
Talking 'bout forever, growing old together
Wasn't it worth the wait?
Every single turn, and now you're gonna learn
Love was always on the way

You're not gonna see it coming
Shows up like a thief at night
You're not gonna feel like running
But that's how you know it's right
You can't go looking for love
Cause love will find you, ooh
You can't go looking for love
Cause love will find you, yeah

Everybody's acting like it's something you chase
But they keep running 'round in circles, never winning the race
Everybody's acting like it's something you chase
But they keep running 'round in circles, never winning the race
Everybody's acting like it's something you chase
But they keep running 'round in circles, never winning the race
Running 'round in circles, running 'round in circles
Running 'round in circles, never winning

You're not gonna see it coming
Shows up like a thief at night
You're not gonna feel like running
But that's how you know it's right
You can't go looking for love
Cause love will find you, ooh
You can't go looking for love
Cause love will find you, yeah
You can't go looking for love
(Cause love will find you) Ooh
You can't go looking for love
(Cause love will find you) Yeah
