

Brand New Sound

Kris Delmhorst

I'll move the air between us
I'll touch you that way
I'll make the waves crash on your shore
I'll move the air between us
You'll feel it even more, even more

There's places in your mind
Been working overtime
Trying to name a brand new sound
There's places in your heart
Listening to the ground, to the ground

All your windy life you waited, now it's time

Halfway around the world
A blue and shaky girl
Is lying underneath the clouds
She's whispering your name
She sings it right out loud, right out loud
