

Already Yours

Kristian Bush

Before you woke up on that day
Before your friends were going out
And you gave in the same old story
Before you slipped on that blue dress
That you hoped would turn the heads
Of all the guys that tried before me
Right before my very eyes
Before I even said hello
Before I even got to know your name

I was already yours
You were already mine
We were just waiting on fate and on time
To open my eyes, show me the door
Now I know every day that came before
I was already yours

Already
Already
Already
I was already yours

Before that ex-boy broke your heart
You packed your whole life in that car
Back before you found this town
Hit the brakes and settled down
Before prom dresses and hard lessons
And hearts broken through text messages
Before you knew what any of it was for

I was already yours
You were already mine
We were just waiting on fate and on time
To open my eyes, show me the door
Now I know every day that came before
I was already yours

Already
I was already yours
Already
I was already yours
Already
I was already yours
Already
Already

Before you were chasing kites with your dad
Hoping some day you'd find a man like that
Before you took your first breath, first step
I was just a boy, I never had a choice

Already
Already
Already

I was already yours
You were already mine

We were just waiting on fate and on time
To open my eyes, show me the door
Now I know every day that came before
I was already yours

Already
Already
Already
I was already yours
Already
Already
Already

Already, already
Already, already
Already, already
